

Mrs. Grahn's junior high students have been busy learning about photography as they prepare to put together the yearbook. Some students have found a gift in photography and others have learned responsibility and excitement in accomplishing goals, which include capturing the best photo they can. One student caught a fumble with the ball in mid-air because she was willing to go out of her comfort zone and take photos.

Characteristics exhibited by the junior high students was using technology as a tool to accomplish tasks and be a life-long learner, a strong sense of self, resourcefulness, working hard and being innovative.
