

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Riza's third grade Reading and Language Arts students have been busy creating a cereal box to use as a platform to tell their story. Students created a name for their cereal and they gave important facts. They then wrote an autobiography where they described their 'future self'. The students had to use their own resources and creativity for their cereal box.

