

Ms. Russell challenged her class on how they were going to help the Avengers get to Loki by making a path with square tiles. The path was to be in the shape of Loki's beginning letter 'L'. They were given square tiles and a piece of paper with Loki/Avengers characters. They first had to do it with plastic tiles and then they completed the task with paper tiles that they glued.

Ms. Russell's students portrayed several characteristics of the evidence of a Bronco. They were effective communicators, problem solvers, and they were able to set and achieve goals.
