

Mrs. Zongker's English II class helped to teach a chapter in the novel "To Kill a Mockingbird" during their class period on May 9, 2019. Students were responsible for teaching their classmates and also keeping control of the classroom environment, which required them to communicate with efficiency both written and verbal. The 'teacher' also helped their peers complete a chapter study guide that went along with the novel. After instruction, the students were placed in groups to complete another chapter in the novel. Along with being good communicators, the students exhibited confidence, hard work, responsibility, and collaborations in their project.
