

Mrs. Anderberg's fourth-grade keyboarding class has been working very hard on their keyboarding skills. Keeping their fingers on the home row and not looking at the keys can be a challenge for them, however, they are up for the challenge and determined to achieve their goal of memorizing the keyboard. These students have portrayed several of the characteristics of a 21st Century Bronco. They are confident in their ability to keyboard correctly and are hard workers. The students are quick to help others be better and have worked together to memorize the keyboard to become more efficient and confident.
