

Mrs. Anderberg's elementary students have been working hard on their computer skills. The students have been using numerous programs to help them and their peers begin to understand the basics of technology. The students were hard working, resourceful, determined, and respectful while learning.

